

I believe that cell phones would contribute to the already close quarters of an airplane and may lead to unruliness, or confrontations between passengers and flight attendants. Cell phones would make planes more uncomfortable and would be disruptive to passengers who want to nap or read.